Geneva airport is on the screen, a man is waiting in a limousine

The pretty girl in a safari suit,
Runs with the saint to the hotel room

So let's get it straight for once and for all
It's so crazy that you're always right & you save me
from the rifle sight
And then you take me in the shadows of the night

We're in the night club and the lights are mauve
That's melody on an overflow
We're freaking out to the flashing lights
Here comes the saint in his suit and tie

It's so crazy that you're always right & you save me
from the rifle sight
And then you take me in the shadows of the night

Back at the mews with your case of clues
The microfilm has the shot of you
Among the crowd at the discotheque,
Kissing the girls don't know what to think

So let's get it straight for once and for all,
It's so crazy that you're always right & you save me
from the rifle sight
And then you take me in the shadows of the night
