What have I done, what did I say?
Am I the one you can not face?
When I need love I look to you
But when I search I can not trace

A beat of your heart, a shadow or shape
Could it be me that learns to mistake temptation?
Temptation for love, temptation for love

Why don't we try to talk it through
And we may find some common ground
I realize that once again
I search for what can not be found

A beat of your heart, a shadow or shape
Could it be me that learns to mistake temptation?
Temptation for love, temptation for love

Is there a bond that we haven't found?
Now that you're gone, I lie awake
Now, I've mistaken

Words fail me now, I fear the worst
I let you down and cannot face
What I have done to you this time
I called on you but couldn't trace

A beat of your heart, a shadow or shape
Could it be me that learns to mistake temptation
Temptation for love, temptation for love
Temptation for love, temptation for love
