Don't you turn and look back at me

Just quickly walk away

All the things I tried don't work

Your heart just will not change

Ohh how could I've been such a fool

What was I dreaming of

Well it's sad but true

I've learned from you

There's no such pain as love

Now in the busy streets I walk alone

And I never hear a sound

Distracted by my thoughts of you

With that new love you have found

Like something in a story book

People needed so they made it up

Well it's sad but true

And there's no such pain

As love

No there's no such pain

As love

You won't see a teardrop fall or the expression while my heart breaks

I'll just turn around in the crowd

To see you everyplace

No I won't give my heart away

Again to anyone

Well it's sad but true

I've learned from you

There's no such pain

as love

And there's no such pain

As love

And there's no such pain

As love

No there's no such pain

As love

And there's no such pain

As love
