Fence between you and everyone
Set between man and man
Among the living and the dead here
Between Christianity, and Islam
Fence between Isaac and Abraham
People within their own fence

Fence between the left and right
Fence between love and sex
And when you're already going through the fence
Even that does not mean too
How not to run into the fence again
And fence and fence

Set all of us is closing
Pokes a long high
Who here knows where it ends
And you will find the breach

Fence between the nightmare dream
Fence between the green and red
Fence between yesterday and tomorrow today
Brown barrier fence between
Fence between evil and innocence
Fence between war and peace

Set all of us is closing
Pokes a long high
Who here knows where it ends
And you will find the breach

You never know who is hiding there
Is that a killer or a friend
You never know what lies there
What you'll find over the fence
