Don't let your head hang down child
Walk your walk and stand up tall
For the weather might not stay this mild
'cause Jah is changing all
Fall into the arms of your creator
When the gates open for you
144000 elevators
One of them might get you through
This earth is changing faces for Babylon must fall
No more hiding places for Jah is changing all
Don't let your head hang down child
Walk your walk and stand up tall
For the weather might not stay this mild
For Jah is changing all

Jah is changing all
Jah is changing all
Jah is changing all
Jah is changing all

Now you now this earth's ball
But only one can play with it
Seated in his holy hall
You will judge you when you're hit
Try to set the world on fire
You might fail a thousand years
But one good day we might strike back at the empire
And change them and their gears

Refrain:

This earth is changing faces for Babylon must fall
No more hiding places for Jah is changing all
Jah is changing all
Jah is changing all
Jah is changing all
Jah is changing all

The third remark goes to your conscience
That might lead me to your soul
So all the false assumptions may fall into a hole
As bagpipes catch your ears you listen and you learn

You learn to loose your fear so you might not be concerned

3x Refrain
