Another day is here
Another day is gone
I don't know what to do I've got to carry on

8 o'clock, the morning coffee tastes disgraceful
Another useless day in weeks, in months, in years
Another day not made to be extremely faithful
I'm caught in daily routine, caught in daily fears

Nothing ever changes, nothing is new
It's only time that's running fast

Another day is here
Another day is gone
I don't know what to do I've got to carry on

10 o'clock the news are announcing more disasters
Of who did something bad to whom and where and when
People are living funny roles of servants and masters
But for all of them the time is running on

Nothing ever changes, nothing is new
It's only time that's running fast

Another day is here
Another day is gone
I don't know what to do I've got to carry on
