I feel this burden
Upon my shoulders
And it keeps on
Dragging me down

And as I drift
Through this endless ocean
I keep hoping
I'll be found before I drown

And I know on some days
Nothing seems to go your way
But you're holding on

When I pass you on an empty street
You look at me but our eyes don't meet
When I see your picture on my wall
I catch myself trying to forget it all

And I know on some days
Nothing seems to go your way
But you're holding on

And I know on some days
Nothing seems to go my way
But I'm holding on

When you say
That you can't see
Open up your eyes
Look at me

When you say
That you're sorry
Take a look inside
What do you feel?

Only a whisper
A silent echo of a
Silent goodbye

And all your footprints
That once remained
Are slowly starting to get washed away

And I know on some days
Nothing seems to go your way
But you're holding on

And I know on some days
Nothing seems to go my way
But I'm holding on

And everything you do
And everything you say
And every place you go
And everyone you meet
And everyone you know
And everything you have
And everything you want

That leads you in the right direction
When you're trying to find
Sometimes you try to make a difference
But nobody sees it
Everyone is too obsessed with what they own

And I know on some days

And I know on some days
But I'm holding on

And I know on some days

And I know on some days
