Small town girl you look so fine sweet sixteen let's dance all night i met you at the drive thru you hate this town and i hate it too full of rednecks with bad tattoos pack your gear and let's get out of here honey bring your dog there's room for both of you we'll stop at the liquor store for gin and beer driving across america with our middle fingers out the window

let's go small town girl this place is not for you small town girl i miss your smile tight blue jeans and cowboys hat you were so sweet for a while now you're back home with mom and dad your brother joe and your small town life it was alright for a while honey there was no room for both of you the dog was fine but it was harder for you driving across america with our middle fingers out the

let's go small town girl this life was not for you

we'll stop at the record store for some johnny cash driving across america with our middle fingers out the
let's go small town girl this life was not for you
