He seems to always understand
What a girl needs for a man
And I'm grateful for his love for me
He always tries to treat me right
And we hardly ever fight
He'll do everything to please me

But he's just not you
He's more than I've ever dreamed of
But he's just not you
And no matter how I try to pretend his love
He's too good to be true
And I would be a fool to lose him now
'Cause he helped me through my darkest times
He loves me like you used to
But he's just not you

He says the words I need to hear
And it's all so very clear
That his love for me is here to stay
But the time knew just not right
And he has to know tonight
But how am I suppose to say

That he's just not you
He's more than I've ever dreamed of
But he's just not you
And no matter how I try to pretend his love
He's too good to be true
And I would be a fool to lose him now
'Cause he helped me through my darkest times
He loves me like you used to
But he's just not you

He's just not you
He's too good to be true
And I would be a fool to lose him now
'Cause he helped me through my darkest times
He loves me like you used to
But he's just not you
But he's just not you
