Well I know the words but I can't really speak them, to you

And I hide all the pain, that I've gained with my wisdom, from you and I've made it alive but what I hold inside, all the things that i live with I can't easily hide

nothing to live for, but you.

It's not easy to hide all this damage inside and I'll carry it with me until im not alive

And you look at my face does it seem just as ugly, to you?

And I can't seem to erase all these scars I have lived with, from you

I'm so sick of this place this taste in my mouth cause of you i can't figure what I'm all about

It's not easy to hide, all this damange inside Im carry it with me, till I'm not alive.
