

Staind

"Something's Wrong"

Visit "Something's Wrong" on MotoLyrics.com

Shattered on the floor
It's not enough to bleed
Tears and angry voices
Cracks around the door
No apologies
And every time you say you love me
I just have to stop and catch my breath
How can somebody love something like me
If you could only say you're sorry
There is nothing in this world I can't forget
Waiting here for you to set me free
Toys and colored pencils
Scattered on the floor
Underneath my feet
You're always crying over nothing
You're always wanting more
You never go to sleep
But every time you say you love me
I just have to stop and catch my breath
How can somebody love something like me
And every time I feel I'm falling

She'll be there to save me from myself
Little angel watching over me
Our taxis in the driveway
Our bags are at the door
And it still kills me to leave
But every time you say you love me
I just have to stop and catch my breath
How can somebody love something like me
And every time I feel I'm falling
You're the one's who saved me from myself
You give me something to believe
And with you here
These cracks and tears
Fade away

Visit Staind page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.