

Your Memorial

"Surface"

Oceans surround me, I've surrendered all.
Please take me under, I'm welcoming the fall.
Flowing through motions, saying I'm awake.
My sense of security, was my own selfish trait.
I dream I'm floating on the surface of my life.
Passed are these days and upheld is my strife.
I dream I'm floating on the surface.
A proven strength, building Inside of us.
A proven strength, a heart-filled sense of trust.
A proven strength, unfathomable power.
A proven strength, calvary in my needed hour.
My harbor of fear, decayed with lies.
Gladly washed away, our distress fully capsized.
A glimpse of perfection, flooding over me.
Your endless mercy, deeper than any sea.
