Spoken

Hello, hello, this is monkeywrench, come in,

Calling money hutch headquarters.

Tell smoky grayhead the "bus stopper" is a guy.

Tell "mister magden" to check on the "chocolate (shotput?)".

And I thought this was a glamorous job.

Well, there's that man who's got everything that he needs

And when the world is falling in he'll never bleed

He goes by jones in istanbul and smith in peru

His job's never through

It's time to start this little game of cat and mouse

And try to keep one step ahead, "there's strangers in the house

His watch is really a radio, his gun a pen

He knows that it's all gone, no mom, nobody wins

Chorus:

Spy world x16

Spoken

Shaken, not stirred, okay?

I'm really tired of wearing these sunglasses.
