It's been so long since I have met you here
Since I have said these words or cried these tears
And like a child would come, I run into our secret place
And as the music fades, the tears are rolling down my face

I am alive in this moment
In this moment, I am found
I am alive in this moment
In this moment, I belong

It's been so long since I have met you here
Since I have heard you speak or let you near
And like a wayward son I've come with nothing left to hide
Here in this moment I have come to offer up my life

I am alive in this moment
In this moment, I am found
I am alive in this moment
In this moment, I belong

Here only one fire burns, it burns
Here only one melody is heard
Once again for the very first time
My eyes are opening

I am alive in this moment
In this moment, I am found
I am alive in this moment
In this moment, I belong

In this moment, I am found
I am alive in this moment
In this moment, I belong, I belong

I'll be found
