I feel like I'm pulling on both ends
Holding on to something
A little bit of nothing, but so much more
You can't start to feel the way I do
Unless you've been there before
Lost a little something
Learned a little something
What, I'm not sure.

There's nothing I can say
There's nothing I can do
When everything I had
Seems like a little dream with you
I'm pulling all the paintings down

Trying to escape
The scent of my sheets at night
The smoke you could not take
You can't start to feel the same
Unless you've laid here before
Building a little something
Lost a little something
What, I'm not sure

There's nothing I can say
There's nothing I can do
When everything I had
Seems like a little dream with you
When everything I've lost
Compares to everything I've gained
There's nothing left for you except
The memory of your name

And I can't stop turning pages
Looking for a stone
Something you left unturned
A little strength I found alone
And if I find you, where I left you
The moment you ceased to care
I hope I have the strength to Smile.

Have the strength to
Smile.
