She Had a smile That could light up the room in seconds
I got lost in her blue eyes in Conversation
& She told me her dreams
& she trusted in me for hours
I held her hand & whispered away my secrets

Nothing's like it seems it's all make believe
& no one's really listening
Too blinded by the glare to ever stop & care
Yeah, No One's really there when you need them
So how on to who you are
Cause Nothing's like it seems, it's all make believe
Just Falling Stars on Silver Screens

She Had a smile That could light up the room in
seconds
With tears after midnight
She told me she lost direction
While the world was asleep
She was up telling me it was over
I Held her up tight for a moment & I was speechless

Nothing's like it seems it's all make believe
& no one's really listening
Too blinded by the glare to ever stop & care
Yeah, No One's really there when you need them
So how on to who you are
Cause Nothing's like it seems, it's all make believe
Just Falling Stars on Silver Screens

Last Thing I Heard
She Became A Star
Followed her dream
She Followed her heart
She left a message in the middle of July
Said you were right & I realized

Nothing's like it seems it's all make believe
& no one's really listening
Too blinded by the glare to ever stop & care

Yeah, No One's really there when you need them
So Blinded by the glare to ever stop & care
Yeah, No one's really there when you need them
So how on to who you are
Cause Nothing's like it seems, it's all make believe
Just Falling Stars on Silver Screens
