Last night the bird came to me
He said I don't know what to say
You aren't blind enough not to see
But sometimes you gotta look away

Everyone knows how the cold wind blows
But not just anyone sees where it goes
Its your turn to pick the place
It's the wind at your back not in your face

The clock keeps spinning round for us
No matter the time though you gotta trust
Remember that all of your feelings take
You gotta give a little for the waves to break

Everyone knows how the cold wind blows
But not just anyone sees where it goes
Pick up the memories that come your way
You'll be glad you have them to read someday

Sometimes I don't know that way
Down to the beach for a relaxing day
Direction loss is my biggest flaw
I'm at he mercy of the bird and his claw

Everyone knows how the cold wind blows
But not just anyone sees where it goes
Now I've found that sweet lost ground
I hope it doesn't lead me back around
