You pull me in you take me down and what you want is what?
I love the colours of the road that lead me home to love
One-two-too many times you took to trip me up
Now that I know it's all you want, it's still never enough

Calling on the backlines
Climbing from the battle to the other side
If courage is a live wire
I see it in your eyes

Too many pills think they know how to keep a choke on you
But you've got power-pressure, when I have too much to lose
The stakes are high my mind is twisted and the pressure's up
At four o'clock awake my head more dizzy than a flood

Calling on the backlines
Climbing from the battle to the other side
If courage is a live wire
I see it in your eyes

Running from the battle to the other side
If living isn't hard wired
I'll see it in your eyes

Calling all the backlines
Crawling from the battle to the other side
If living isn't hard wired
I'll see it in your eyes

Calling to the backlines
Hiding from the shadow leave the rest behind
If courage is a live wire
I see it in your eyes
I see it in your eyes
I see it in your eyes
