In a sense she is just lines Lines and flowing arcs to a point that make a shape that I can't speak of

I have never seen such light If you put a fire in a her eyes It wouldn't burn any brighter and her charm is more than that a voice that's angled darker than color and sparkles her other charms

What a mystery is this A face I'll never kiss anyway but if you'd ask me it seems real still her eyes never look away Follow me into my sleep in dreamland they're closer

a voice that's angled darker than color
and sparkles her other charms

She is a work of art and she moves, yeah she moves right through me
She is a work of art
and she's only real in my mind in my mind
