Forever, you'll be remembered as the one who played it cool

Whenever they speak your name, they'll say

It's you who broke the golden rule

But here's what I really want to know

Did you see the writing on the wall?

Babylon

How long can this foolish magic carry on?

Babylon

Who will love you when the fantasy of youth is gone?

Babylon, is it true that your streets were paved with gold

And did you play beneath the stars?

Babylon, did you know it would all come down to

How you played the dealer's cards?

Remember how you loved the laughter, a kingdom on the rise

Cries in the night would turn you to song

And when they call, ooh, you sang along

Here's what I really want to know

Did you see the writing on the wall?

Babylon

How long will this foolish magic carry on?

Babylon

Who will love you when the fantasy of youth is gone?

Babylon, is it true that your streets were paved with
gold

And did you play beneath the stars?

Babylon, did you know it would all come down to

How you played the dealer's cards?

It's over you rate two pages in some book, your legacy

Lost in the night and still you sing your song

For those who will take heed

Here's what I really want to know

Did you see the writing on the wall

Babylon
