"Master Plan"

empty bottle in these hands again tonight you could never get it right i am shattered to the core from the saturday before now to big for there is nothing left to say except i wish we never met big eyes big enough to see you were not the one who's meant for me i had a master plan for you

but you let me down
i am over it now
i am over it now
i am over it now

diagrams and calculations had been made this should last a long, long while just a few things left to chance nothing of significance nothing i hate more than weakness being feigned by the girl who holds the reins nothing i hate more than that but the man who foiled my master plan

but you let me down
i am over it now

there's a fever in these cells again tonight you will never get it right pick myself up off the floor i'm not shattered like i was before

but you let me down
i am over it now
