"A Rose For Martina"

The thrones impaled when thou dispelled my words
Why thee forsaken me in this barren road
The memories when thy smile made me love the world
When I laid ye a carmine rose
Oh martina why have
You forsaken me in this barren road
The memories when thy smile made me love the world
When I laid ye a crimson rose
Hopes scattered
And the dreams vanished
When you avert with a jilt
Oh martina why have
You forsaken me in this barren road
The memories when thy smile made me love the world
When I laid ye a crimson rose
