i open the floodgates
and hope it won't hurt

inside i confide

growing up seems so long ago fill my cup with days i can't let go the only thing that i've ever learned is that i'm not a kid anymore drenched in a cold sweat change 'cause i can't deal when will i really live?

is that i'm not a kid anymore

age creeping up on me emptiness and waiting to die

is that i'm not a kid anymore
