Take this for what its worth, this song my smile,
i write to you from hell my song leaving my foot against the gas and the wall that must have said your name (I'll write to you from hell tonight) waken me, for nothing you can say could stop this now, would a noose replace his lips? can a song replace a broken heart? can a song replace a broken love? on the beach i remind myself that holding hands is so powerless tonight i dont even have the stars to hold onto Paint this red her picture will remain unbroken she crys tonight i fall in love wipe each tear away with sand paper tonight im not alone

i just wanna get your fucking voice out of my head will i fall within the break? ill watch you fall.
