The wolves are coming out tonight

Don't say you heard this coming

The wolves are coming out tonight

Oh boy you best be running

They say they saw her on the streets

They say they saw her on her knees

I hear there's been more to offer than the scent under her dress

We've been sharing lovers for far too long

This isn't a last goodnight

And we'll be sleeping 'til our bodies have run cold again

But you're just that suitable

For most to lay their hands upon

But you've made this just so simple

It's like playing doctor with the dead

They just might say you're the best they ever had

I'm not afraid, I loved something once

Are we fighting for something? We can't save them all

I can't believe we let this one go (I'm gone)

And I'll be making headlines if they find the body

As I attempt to erase the past

This is the moment where true passion is moving on
And I respect your dedication
This is the art
Of sharing lovers
This is the art
Of sharing lovers
I'm not afraid, I loved something once
Are we fighting for something? We can't save them all
I can't believe we let this one go (I'm gone)
I have swam in the pools of your past
Through the tides of lies running through your hair
And since I reached shore it seems I've been washed clean
Leaving you is purity
I'm not afraid, I loved something once
Are we fighting for something? We can't save them all
I can't believe we let this one go (I'm gone)
