Wires, Wires break me now
This Touch, last touch, this touch break me, now i, i see you, im sorry, im not sorry a word too soft to be spoken wrapped in barbed wire im traveling amongst the charred, fields of snow i have become.. wounded for the souls lost in this display of self righteous ideals break me for im the one, the one who deserves this pain the innocent will find innocence will find it's place in heaven this pain will not stop i now dispose of you
one by one their souls will take you over the pain of thousands, your time has come to think you have broken us down you have not the innocent are free now and you're condemned

break me, now i, i see innocence of thousands that passed you think you have broken us down
you have not
and break me for im the one who diserves this pain the innocent will find their way to heaven (to heaven)
one by one their souls will take you over
