

Zydepunks

"One More Chance"

Visit "One More Chance" on MotoLyrics.com

Should I give you one more chance?
When you're the one who's Always making fun of me
Always disrespectful to me

Is it too much to ask?
Here I am my life is changing
My heart goes out can't no one blame me
Why do I have to ask?

Will there be another chance?
When now's the time that
Many dreams are breaking around me
People's shattered lives surround me

Why aren't you the one to see?
You've known me so much longer
A bond of blood that should be stronger
I just want to believe that there's

More to life - than fighting all the time
That there's more to life - than a drunk and daily grind
Should I give it up - should I let it all go
Should I give you one more chance

Will I give you one more chance
When tears are burning all I ask is Shut your mouth and listen to me
Your pretty world means nothing to me

While my world is upside down
Even if you're speaking true
It ain't fair to treat me cruel so
Just let me pretend that there's

More to life - than fighting all the time
That there's more to life - than a drunk and daily grind
Should I give it up - should I let it all go
Should I give you one more chance

