Over and over again
Cheating and lying, she'd been denying the truth again
Change your mind again
I can remember a time when things were better
I couldn't look sadder at all

I used to be told that I did not know
Every time there was trouble I'd run and I'd hide away
I'd always find time or make time to work it out
Because whatever I'd say, it's only my way
My impression of a two sided love affair

Because its always the two sides
The one liners, two timers
Time to start over again

Tossin and turnin', I'm burning, I'm hot
Sleeping and dreaming, I should be, I'm not
Waking and shaking, you're losing my lot

Over and over again
It keeps repeating, who's doing the cheating?
Now who's a fool, Is it me or you?
I can remember a time when things were better
I couldn't look sadder at all

She used to be told that she didn't know
Then be spinning around and around in a hurricane
And all the time thinking why did I do it all?
She sobs, a really strange girl, or rearranged girl
On her own like a tree that's been lost in a hurricane

Because it's always the two sides
The one liners, two timers
Time to start over again

Tossin' and turnin', I'm burning, I'm hot
Sleeping and dreaming, I should be, I'm not
Waking and shaking, you're losing my lot

Over and Over again

Cheating and lying, she'd be denying the truth again
Change your mind again
I can remember a time when things were better
I couldn't look sadder at all

So its clear now, do you understand now?
Everything I've been saying to you 'bout the two of us
Because if you do know and you know to work it out, because
She was pretending, only pretending
Criticising it all without any certainty

Without an ending to both sides
The one, two and three timers
Always start over again

Tossin' and turnin', I'm burning, I'm hot
Sleeping and dreaming, I should be, I'm not
Waking and shaking, you're losing my lot

Tossin' and turnin' I'm burning, I'm hot
Waking and shaking, you're losing my lot
Wishing and hoping, yeah, that's all I've got
