Preying on scared rabbit glared in the eyes Twisted shreds of fabric, cold glare when it's done sometimes I think I'm the same, but I'm not If they had their way you'd be just drops of fluid

But who are they to judge you the unconscious masses
You will enter voids of penultimate storms Talons of energy remake a new form Nothing is remembered on the surface you've escaped

but paid

Father beats and rapes you in innocence Hands and knees face down the taste you spit The taste you spit, don't become again
One more try to walk erect, the candle flickers
The storm pursues, the wax burns your face triumph atop a wave that descends a steadily rising curve we've all won
