I know I can't predict the weather but i will run through storms with you (run through storms with you) and the buildings they grow tall but your love shines through it all

So baby
If you want this tell me tonight
and this could be the story in a dream and your eyes they dont lie the world can't freeze for us in spite and girl you're the brightest star tonight but you could always say that i know when its a ways to be there cause baby when i sigh its a lie Im doin it al for you so ch ch change my world

And the only one who said that I never see her and is it the right time - a chance to see ahead through so wash it all away And the world can build their hedge while we dive head-first from this ledge So baby..If you want this
tell me tonight
and girl you're the brightest star tonight.. the brightest star tonight

...wash it all away...

And the buildings they grow tall

So baby..If you want me don't cry inside I'm waiting for the story as our dream

and this can be the story in a dream yeh we could be the story in a dream this can be the story in our dreams yeh this can be a story in our dreams (...You're the brightest star tonight...)
