I was right
I was right here digging with my hands, a hole to hide myself between those perfect gardens, all my fears would be thoroughly erased
you were light and you came into this night right on time just before my brain turned a shitty place now it's all been cleaned and yesterday will be thoroughly erased
the beauty of that plan was always so much bigger when in your hands under the falling sky
I wish my body had the scent of yours tonight
