Show me, show me how it's done
This tired face, too pale
These tired feet don't know where they are headed

And show me, show me how it's done
This troubled mind needs rest
This aching heart needs more than you can offer

And I'm playing with the dangerous flame again
And I'm happy as I can be when you are gone

And I'm playing with the dangerous flame again
And I'm happy as I can be when you are gone

And show me, and show me how it's done
This tired face, too pale
These tired feet don't know where they are headed

And show me, and show me how it's done
Invisible wars, you and I
Still acting like we're strangers

And I'm playing with the dangerous flame again
I think I'm happy as I can be when you are gone

And I'm playing with the dangerous flame again
And I'm happy as I can be when you are gone

And I'm playing with the dangerous flame again
And I'm happy as I can be when you are gone
