I saw your face through glass from where I stood no time had passed as if it were yesterday the bruises had all but gone away the pain he brought - was not the last you felt the tears roll down your cheeks i asked how long has it been?

you said 1 year, 2 month and 3 weeks the pain that was had come and gone now your soul has to live on, and on

I heard your voice behind the glass the time you see, would have to pass you tried to make it go away but now it is here we'll stay you'll call this home with time to pass and on...
