It's not a shame to be afraid
I know you're trying to be brave but I know that it's ok, you can let your heart go I can't erase your pain, but I do my best to keep you safe
I know it's hard to trust but you can count on me

If I had to face the darkest night, through the wildest storm
just to let you know
I would give up everything, just to keep you warm
anything to show you

I'm here
I'm here

I don't believe in destiny but you mean everything to me I'm not the kind to use a million words even if I want it too

And if I had to face the darkest night, through the wildest storm
just to let you know
I would give up everything, just to keep you warm
anything to show you

I'm here
I'm here

I could paint a picture but I might get it wrong and I could tell a story but it might go on too long and I could join an orchestra pretend to play along but sometimes I might be lost for words

I'm here
I'm here

And if I had to face the darkest night, through the
wildest storm

anything to show you

I'm here
I'm here
