Stephen Barnes
"When God Made You, He Was Showing Off"

Visit "When God Made You, He Was Showing Off" on MotoLyrics.com

If you were to be fallen in a well I would throw down a ladder and calm all your troubles so you could climb up into my arms.
If you were be lost at sea I would blow on the ocean and change all the currents and have the waves carry you home to me... you home to me.

I'd be your everything,
Your everything whenever you need me
I'd be your everything.

If you were to be in a horrible car crash I would throw myself in front of you and cushion all the impact, I'd be your human air bag.
If you were to die right here in now. I would pray to the heavens to take my soul instead and trade you out.
Trade you out.

I'd be your everything,
Your everything whenever you need me
I'd be your everything.

If you were to jump of some great height I would be there at the bottom with arms stretched to the sky. I'd be safety net for life your safety net for life, And if you were to be gone without sight I would be right here to grab onto, run to guide you. Though your eyes are dark
I would be your light.
I would be your light.
I'd be your light. (x 2)

I'd be your everything,
Your everything whenever you need me
Your everything.