Well I've seen that giving up
It has given back to me
And what's left is strong and true
And I built it next to you
I've waited, I've failed, and I've wanted
Now I've got it

And I hold my hand to touch the skyline

I awake from sleeping
This wide-eyed dreaming
Was always there for me
Now I wait these reasons
With changing seasons
You were there for me

And I'm making up my time (And I'm making up my time)
Through time zones and city lines
And these days are long but new
And I share them next to you
The postcards and mail that needs sending I'm forgetting to send them at all

When I die they will follow you home

I awake from sleeping
This wide-eyed dreaming
Was always enough for me
Now I break these reasons
Through changing seasons
You were there for me

Now I'm given the chance that I want
I will do it and I'll do it well
And for those who have stood by my side
You are the story I tell

This is everything I want
This is everything I need
This is everything I want

This is everything I need

Well I awake from sleeping
This wide-eyed dreaming
You were there for me
Now I break this reason
Through changing seasons
You were there for me
You were always there for me
