Here we go again, another night of being bummed
I can tell myself avoid the sun, and cancel plans with everyone I know
Cause this is how it always ends
Our bond will break, cause you can't relate to anyone, to anything at all

You brought your worst and I'm right here
Now I've seen it all, and it's never been so clear

You're not the person that I knew back then It's all to late to set things straight, cause everything has been
You're not the person that I knew back then
Lets try and act like this didn't happen
Move on with your friends like you ever had them

You still know me, still not cut out for this sort of thing
Never one to be caught inbetween,
I need constant reminders of everything
So what?
It's who I am, I think i played it off so well
I just hold it in no matter how I've been So nobody, nobody can tell

You brought your worst and I'm right here
Now I've seen it all and it's never been so clear

You're not the person that I knew back then
It's all to late to set things straight, cause everything
has been
You're not the person that I knew back then
Let's try and act like this didn't happen
Move on with your friends like you ever had them

I won't sleep till the break of dawn (break of dawn)
I can't let our problems find me here
So everybody come on

You brought your worst and I'm right here
Now I've seen it all, and it's never been so clear

You're not the person that I knew back then
It's all too late to set things straight, cause everything
has been
You're not the person that I knew back then
Let's try and act like this didn't happen
Move on with your friends like you ever had them

You're not the person that I knew back then
It's all too late to set things straight, cause everything
has been
You're not the person that I knew back then
Let's try and act like this didn't happen
Move on with your friends like you ever had them
