Day To Remember, A "Nj Legion Iced Tea"

Get up, get out, this is your wake up call We run this town and you can fight us all We'll keep on coming back for more Don't think you can hold us down We'll tear this building down Try to be careful what you say

Give it up, your tact is astounding Find your place, and leave us with some peace of mind You do this everytime

So here's to another better year We've crossed the thin line, don't try to hold us here If for just this once you'd think of us, I hope your happy with yourself

Get up, get out, whose gonna break your fall?
When we don't back down they're gonna seem so small
We keep em runnin for the door
Just wait, things will come back around It's to late for them, they're headed straight for a meltdown
I'm not a part of your cliche

Give it up, your tact is astounding Find your place, and leave us with some peace of mind You do this everytime

So here's to another better year We've crossed the thin line, don't try to hold us here If for just this once you'd think of us, I hope your happy with yourself

So here's to another better year We've crossed the thin line, don't try to hold us here If for just this once you'd think of us, I hope your happy with yourself

Just think about, just think about everything Be careful now, be careful what you say While I'm away This is the life we chose, this is the life i lead They could never, take this from me This is the life we chose, this is the life i lead They could never, take this from me

So here's to another better year We've crossed the thin line, don't try to hold us here If for just this once you'd think of us, I hope your happy with yourself

So here's to another better year We've crossed the thin line, don't try to hold us here If for just this once you'd think of us, I hope your happy with yourself

So here's to another better year, I hope your happy with yourself
