You, you've got a funny way of saying hello
And a pocketful of undisclosed dreams
You paved my way to helpless nerves
And no one gets inside your jeans

Now don't mention the blur
At the merest hint of her

I love you, you don't know
How much I love you
And how that crush is a blow
You don't care about me
And how I care about you

Once before the world became serene
The hands of love pushed me away
But soon you will reject that scene
For acts of love and passion plays

Let's improvise
A perfect world without the lies

With your wristful of chains
And your fistful of change
I hope that you get through
Now you think your dandy pose
Goes with my basement clothes
What made you change your view?
Maybe it's my loving tongue
The ecstasy from which we swung
(I'm your lover in a world of dreams)
