Who made the rule that I should always play the fool
All the nights I suffered when I need not have bothered
You should have said "Oh but we ate instead"
I thought you couldn't care less
Your heart I couldn't impress

But she loves me
She loves me
Oh and she loves me all the time

Lovers we'll be
But never ones to suffer lovers' drudgery
Easy to understand
But not prosaic misconceived or underhand

The minutes that we missed
The idle lips that should've kissed
Are now gently together
The first kiss lasts forever

She loves me
She loves me
Oh and she loves me all the time

The meals that went untasted
The scenes that I created
The days that seemed to drag on forever
All the sleep I wasted
When I should've been dreaming
Of all that we could do together
Together

She loves me
She loves me
Oh and she loves me all the time

The minutes that we missed
The idle lips that should've kissed
Are now gently together
The first kiss lasts forever

She loves me
She loves me
Oh and she loves me
All the time
(repeat)
