Walking down the road
He knows, he knows
That she's in love with him
For so long.

And all the memories
Running through his eyes
And all the words she said
That he couldn't quite believe

REF: That she would give her hart,
Would die for him
Would give herself,
She would do anything

And all the things about
After the last kiss
That he would turn back to his wife
And go on his life.

He doesn't really see
That she tries so hard
He's all she thinks about
When she cries every night

One day he came to her
Looking into her eyes
Saying all those ugly lies
And running through the door

The letter she wrote
Was found in her bed
And all the words she said
Were the last and they were sad

But now he would give his heart

Would die for her kiss
Would give up his wife
Cause she's all she ever had

He's praying every night
To see her again
And he's the only one to blame
Cause now she's dead.
