There's no common goal
there's no moral action there's no modern age
from which to run away

There's no grace in love with a known projection there's no sky above for you to cry into

We can't help you
find a place to

Well, I wish for once you would just start copin' every night and day tell me what to say

You were over ripe
you were never open
you were just a stripe
on the gay crusade
we can't help you
find a place to

She knows one is one
she can let it through now she can kill me cool
welcome to the ruse

Well, I've seen the storm
it is off your shoulder party in the cage
blow us all away

We can't help you
find a place to
find a place to lay
