Mommy Help by De Havenzangers
Mommy help, protect me from reality
Tell me it's a dream about bestiality
Mommy please, just one more bedtime story
In which the good guys have the glory

Mommy is it really true? All these cruel things we do
Will I do such things when I am full-grown?
Will you protect me or am I in this alone?

Daddy, you're the strongest man on earth
Held away the demons since my birth
But outside in the streets, those demons are the law
And I can't find your stories' heroes anymore

Daddy is it really true? All these cruel things we do
Will I do such things when I am full-grown?
Will you protect me or am I in this alone?

Daddy, today someone told me, many men are stronger than you
Mommy, today someone told me, not all your stories are true
