Words I thought but never said,
keeping me here in my bed
From now on to the end of time, they're prisoners in my mind

Lord I'm so tired I walk in the dark
I sing the saddest song, cos here I'm nothing
Lord I'm so tired, Lord I'm so lost
Let me go beyond, cos here I'm nothing

I know you feel like you don't belong,
When all that you had is gone
I know you think that you're all alone, but that doesn't make it so
It feels like nothing matters at all anymore

I escape but can't ignore
I've never been hurt like this before
You're a part of who I am
It's so clear now I understand

Words unsaid and things undone,
An ending when you just begun
It feels like nothing matters at all any more
It's like nothing matters at all
And I'm tired of holding on Being right, being wrong
It's like nothing matters at all any more,
It's like nothing matters at all
