Tired bones on my way home
I long to go beyond this space and time
Can't justify this marathon not anymore
I feel so alone, feel so alone
It's like everything collides, nothing's aligned

And no one knows it more than I Burt the next and this life must go on
I won't give up
It hurts but I don't feel a thing at all
With dirty knuckles burning eyes I'll kiss the flames and die for your love

A hollow place the longest moment
My face can feel the earth this must be ground and if I didn't feel before, I'm feeling it now

Oh how I miss you, oh I miss you
And what I wouldn't do for time undone
Another hour spent with you
I'll live for that time and so I

Won't give up...
