Delores was her middle name
She read the book and every thing
Now I know how old I am
Have you ever seen that film

Talking to a hotel mirror with my glasses off
Now you know just what he's crying about

Delores was her middle name
Dangling from a silver chain
Where'd you learn to talk that way
I look like James Mason's ghost

Talking to a friend after school but you don't see
That she's really looking right at me

Yeah yeah yeah

Delores was her middle name
And now her mother's wondering
If I could see my wrinkled face
Paint her lovely toe nails red

Writing all my problems in a secret little book
Now I know just what he should have done

Talking to me like I'm just a little late
Now you know just what he's talking about

Delores was her middle name
Delores was her middle name
Yeah yeah yeah
