

The Stereo

"There Goes My Mouth Again"

Visit "There Goes My Mouth Again" on MotoLyrics.com pack up your things tonight this trip may be long but it's alright painful to recognize but it's not something you should compromise

there goes my mouth again when the words go too fast and my sentence won't end there goes my feet again now I'm running to protect beliefs I defend running out good excuses again guess what I'm thinking, it's not what you're thinking it's not even what you might have thought I've done some thinking about you there goes my life again put on hold to pursue my intentions intent there goes my mind with that now you got everything that I have it's a fact you got everything but the point is exact not again I told everyone I'm gone I said that before but was always wrong not again I told everybody but it won't be long as the story unfolds time will tell all its tales and the truth will be know someday after I am old I will look back and say with some pride that I know I can't help but smile when I tell you I'll know

Visit The Stereo page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.