In tears I'm tickling my own feet
In this world war reigns over peace
Shooting for sham freedom is worth it
But now that the blossoms lose their red
It's getting harder to forget
About the roots beneath the surface

Illusory world
I'll be starting all over
Illusory world
Watch me drink myself sober

Although you hit the first-world life
You hate yourself, and so does your child
Waiting for happiness to get you
It's not the love of god, it's death
You're sucking up from the wooden man
That's being tortured in your bedroom

Illusory world
I'll be starting all over
Illusory world
Watch me drink myself sober
Illusory world

Listen up
It's your long-lost outcast son
Listen up
Old man what have you become?
Listen up
You were never there for me
Listen up
As you sow so you shall reap
So you shall reap

Illusory world

I'll be starting all over
Illusory world
Watch me drink myself sober
I'll be sober
Illusory world

There's something wrong with the core of this land
If you're not aware of this you are part of the problem

Illusory world
While you're counting your money
Illusory world
The long-awaited keeps coming
