Maybe I need those big ideas
To keep me from feeling small

Maybe I flee into myself
So I can say I've been somewhere

Maybe I'm too naive to see
That some things will never change

Maybe I'm still singing these songs
Cause I'm afraid of growing up

My head's my worst enemy
It seems to know
It can't take me home
Every doubt that comes along
I know them all
They won't reach my soul

Maybe the ground beneath my feet
Is not as solid as it seems

Maybe it's too late to admit
That all I find is loneliness

My head's my worst enemy
It seems to know
It can't take me home
Every doubt that comes along
I know them all
They won't reach my soul

Maybe I need those big ideas
To keep me from feeling small
