There's a fire burning in every hollow life
Different roads and different paths
To another state of mind
An if I'm dying', I'm dying at home
When you follow the masses
You're already gone

For a second I swear I looked up
I saw dead birds in the sky
Like angels they fell down
From the purple clouds

Some say it's romance
Some say it's hate
For me it's more a way to express myself
And in silence we live hiding away
Afraid to make a stand
So save yourselves from a lifetime of heartaches

For a second I swear I looked up
I saw dead birds in the sky
Like angels they fell down
From the purple clouds

So how ya doin', welcome to the city
Of love and hate and true believers
You're so pretty, I gotta tell ya
Dead birds and souls are taking over

For a second I swear I looked up
I saw dead birds in the sky
Like angels they fell down
From the purple clouds
